

Project Management Report

Cardspark - Group 26

June 6, 2016

Start of iteration We used Slack to communicate between each other and have apps like Trello, Github and CircleCI integrated with it. We used Trello to post notes of what tasks we need to carry out for each iteration. At this stage we mainly post ideas in Slack and what we need to do for the week in Trello.

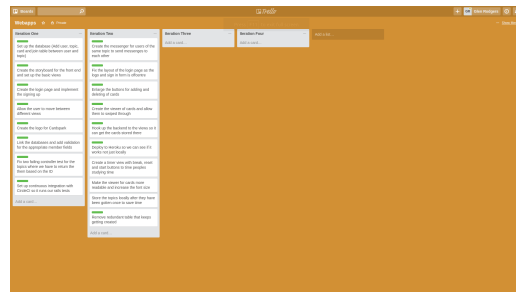

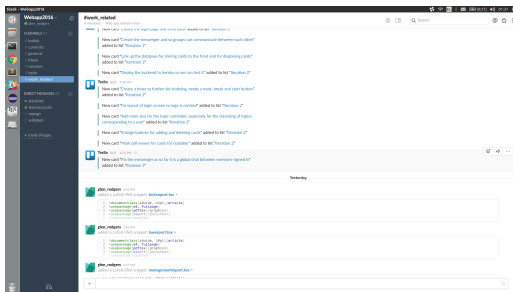

(a) Slack App

(b) Trello App

Middle of iteration Slack is now used mainly for work queries and discussions instead of idea generation. Most of the cards should be marked as finished and we are now working on. We continually post any user feedback onto Trello or Slack where suitable.

End of iteration In Slack, the focus is now mostly on the work-related channel as well as the builds and commits channels. Cards are now marked as finished or moved to the next iteration.

